The Oriel is a beautiful long legged sofa with buttoned down elegance designed for rume by Richard. P. Baker. As with all rume sofas it is handmade to order by our skilled staff in our Sussex workshops, drawing on classic English furniture making traditions and techniques and combining long established practices with proven modern materials. This individual approach means you can specify dimension, fabric, cushion type and layout, even leg timber and stain. As shown the Oriel has a solid beech frame with a sprung platform and back, a quilted duck feather-over-reflex foam single seat cushion, duck feather back cushions with button detail and black stain over ash legs. And as with all of our sofas a complementary stool is also available. Your choice of fabric or leather. NB: Prices are exclusive of fabric and leather but include VAT.
